

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image processing device includes: a color coordinate conversion device which converts color coordinates of a color 5 signal which has been obtained by color separation; and a two dimensional look up table which is used for correcting a chromaticity signal which has been obtained by color coordinate conversion by the color coordinate conversion device.